hold their first primary. Advice from Northfield, the headquarters of the Allen M. Fletcher Senatorial club, were to the effect that there was no reason to be pessimistic so far as reports had been received.

From Hyde Park, home of Senator Carroll S. Page, came by telephone the unqualified statement that Page will get the nomination. When asked how the other candidates would stand in the final count friends of Senator Page acknowledged that Fletcher would be a close second.

Though Gov. Charles W. Gates of Franklin has not made much noise in campaigning for the seat of Senator Page the Franklin county candidate's friends, especially in Washington and Windham counties, were offering to gamble that he would not be in cellar position when the votes are counted.

Advices from Middlebury, home of Judge John E. Weeks, are that the present speaker of the house of representatives has gained ground fast the past week and that he has the better hold on the Lieutenant governorship. Hyde Park friends of Roger Hubbard, Lamoille county's candidate for the second place on the Republican ticket, are making claims that well-informed students of politics consider highly extravagant Capital City friends of Judge Weeks say that Hubbard people will find their man outside the brentworks tonight.

The auditorship concerns Washington county politicians fully as much as any of the contests as Ben. Gates, secretary of civil and military affairs, who has served a long apprenticeship on the state's payroll, and Thomas Cave, jr., of Barre, at present an assistant in the office of the state treasurer, are making a fight for the office now held by Horace P. Graham. The political scouts are divided in their opinion as to the outcome of the fight but reports from various parts of the state would indicate that Cave has the pole.

ENGLAND IS WORRIED OVER MAIL SEIZURES

Insists That Sweden Keep Her Hands Off Parcel Matter Pending Arbitration.

LONDON, Sept. 12. — There has been a further and rather sharp exchange of notes between Great Britain and Sweden in regard to the difficulties brought about by the allied blockade and Sweden's retaliatory seizure of mails in transit between England and Russia. No solution of the problem is in sight. The British foreign secretary, Viscount Grey, insists that as a condition to submitting the matter to arbitration Sweden must promise not to interfere again with English parcel matter in transit across Sweden. The Swedish government apparently is determined not to make such an engagement.

It is noticeable that until now the correspondence has been conducted almost wholly between Viscount Grey and the Swedish minister in London, Count Wrangel, but Viscount Grey's latest note to Count Wrangel says the count's communication is not understood and that the British minister at Stockholm is being directed to present the matter to the Swedish government. Count Wrangel has now gone to the continent and it is announced, he will stay for several weeks.

Count Wrangel's letter, given out today, says Sweden shares the hopes expressed by Viscount Grey that the correspondence may bring definite solution of the questions at issue and that Sweden "would warmly congratulate itself on the application of the fertile principle of international arbitration. The count says further he is glad the British government appears to recognize it is an impossibility for the Swedish government to renounce in advance the right to take measures which regrettable circumstances might render necessary." The letter concludes with the statement that Sweden recognizes fully the binding character of the postal agreement of 1904, but maintains the right to suspend the agreement under the conditions in question.

In reply, Viscount Grey says the meaning of this communication is not clear and that he has instructed the British minister at Stockholm to point out to the Swedish government that Great Britain "must, as a condition precedent to any arrangement involving recourse to arbitration, have assurance that the Swedish government will definitely cease to interfere with the transit of parcels to and from the United Kingdom across Sweden."

PRODUCERS OF MILK WANT MORE MONEY

Boston Dealers Say That Higher Retail Prices in the Near Future Are Inevitable.

BOSTON, Sept. 12. — Boston is facing an increase in the retail price of milk. Just how much this increase will be, and how soon it will take effect, will be decided at a meeting of the New England Milk Producers' association, to be held at Young's hotel today and tomorrow.

That there will be an increase in the price without question was the consensus of opinion of the wholesale and retail dealers interviewed Monday. The conservative estimates varied from one-half cent to a cent in the price of quarts, while the more radical estimates placed the probable increases at two cents a quart. The retail price of milk at present is nine cents a quart.

One of the men to express an opinion on the subject was Nelson C. Davis of the H. P. Hood company. He declared that all commodities with the exception of milk have lately gone up in price. He called attention to the fact that the interstate commerce commission has allowed the railroads to so adjust the shipment of milk that on and after the first of October it will mean an increase in freight to all milk shippers.

Mr. Davis also stated that the milk producers are asking for an increase in the price to the middlemen, and that if the public sees fit to have the farmers given more money, and the interstate commerce commission having granted the railroads more money, there will be nothing else to do but give the middleman more.

At the present time, according to Mr. Davis, the Hood company makes but one-sixth of a cent profit on each quart of milk sold. Out of this profit must come the increased freight cost, and he considers it no more than just that the middleman should be allowed a fair profit in the handling of the milk.

Charles H. Whiting of P. W. Whiting & Sons also expressed the belief that an increase in the price of milk is logically due. He declared, however, that the amount of the increase, would depend a great deal on the action taken at the producers' conference next week.

Mr. Whiting believes that the middlemen are now operating on a very small margin of profit. Additional freight rate increases as granted by the interstate commerce commission would wipe out the profit altogether. The 3,000 milk producers all over New England are insistent that they get more money for milk. They demand 45 cents instead of 35 cents for the eight and one-half quart can sold the middlemen at present.

LIVES LOST TOTAL 248.

Inquiry to Be Made Into Loss of Italian Dreadnought.

ROME, Sept. 12. — A total of 248 lives were lost when the Italian dreadnought Leonardo da Vinci caught fire and blew up in the harbor of Taranto, Italy, on August 2, says an official admiralty statement. "Twenty-one officers and 227 men perished in the fire and explosion on board the warship Leonardo da Vinci on August 2," the statement reads. "The first speedy investigation established that the disaster was not due to faulty ammunition, nor to a criminal cause from without the ship. The minister of marine, however, nominated a superior committee of inquiry with the fullest powers, presided over by Admiral Canavaro, to determine whether the accident had any connection with incidents of a criminal nature which occurred in the country recently
